Other characteristics of this manual will be regarded as even more important by the general reader. A History of the Presidential contest of 1848-a like history of the Revolutions in Europe -an account of the close of the Mexican War with a publication in full of the Treaty of Peaceand a compact exhibition of the Expenditures of the Federal Government, under the heads of Army, Navy, Treasury, &c. &c. are among the prominent features of this compilation. Comparatively few of our citizens have any clear idea where their aggregate of Thirty Millions per annum actually goes—how much of it is required to pay severally our Generals, Commodores, Colonels, Captains, Lieutepants, Midshipmen, and so on. The Whig Almanac for 1849 contains this infor mation, intermingled with brief suggestions of chments and Reforms in the Public Ser We believe there are many thousands who would gladly pay a shilling for this alone, and we are sure it ought to be familiarly and generally

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT .- A meeting of friends of the Abolition of Capital Punishment was held last evening in Hope Chapel Lecture Room. The following are the persons chosen to officiate : FREEMAN HUNT, Benjamin Ellis, Richard S. Williams, Jacob Harsen, M.D. Frederick C. Havemeyer, John F. Gray bons, John Hopper, Secretaries. JAMES H. TITUS proceeded to set forth the necessity there existed for individual and and public action on the important subject of Capital Punishment. While there was a negligence on the part of the Legislature, nothing could be done to this matter; it is the duty of all the friends of this much desired reform to bestir themselves and petition the State Government for the Abelition of the Death said the speaker, to persevere in this cause, we have received letters from all parts of the country manifest ing a deep and earnest interest in this great reform. A have also published the excellent arguments of Chan-cellor Livingston, for which many applications had ded to address the audience. He said: I have always sympathized with the movement against Capital Punishment. My attention has not been much devoted to it, and I am not yet qualified to detain this audience with a speech. Every great movement will be carried forward by a frequent reiteration of great principles on to the main-spring of all moral reforms. The agliation is the main-spring of all moral reforms. The Anti-Capital Punishment movement is actuated by two motives, viz: The welfare of the criminal and the good of society. We are sugmentized as being sympathiers with the criminal, and with having no feeling for the victim of his crime. Is their anything wrong in the saying of Christ, that it is better to build than to throw down! I there snything weak in the assertion that because the blood of the criminal export call back the life of his victim, it is better to reform him! Is there anything weak in saying it is uncless to shed blood the life of his victim, it is better to reform him? Is there anything weak in anying it is useless to shed blood the second time because it has been shed the first time!—We cannot tell the degree of guilt; we cannot indiet has retribution; it is impossible for mortal to judge of the motive which dictated the crime. We believe and are right in our convictions, that it is the duty of society, not merely to punish, but that it is bound also to reform. Society must educate as well as punish, for it is a fact that the majority of those who explain their crime upon the gallows, had never had the benefix resulting from education impressed on their minds when roung, but have always lived in a state of moral degradation. Many arguments of great force have been used This law of Gapital Funshment, sain the speace; is but a means of gratifying revenge; it is skin to that refused sense of more which, which predict, can only be satisfied with the blood of the offender, which requires retribution for the slightest breach of bonor or insult—it is that which, disregarding the reformation of the criminal, would erect the blood-stained scaffold in definee of every Christian consideration.

We Browner and Advanced the addience. He Mr. Buckingham next addressed the sudience. He spoke in substance as follows: It has been found by statistics that in the absence of Capital Funishment the amount of crime punishable by that law has decreased. This was so in Tuscany, where it had been abeliabed This was so in Turcany, where it had been abolished for a period of twenty years, and it is a fact that wherever the number of executions has decreased the of fences have decreased in an equal ratio. It is not our policy, said Mr. Buckingham, to execute the criminal, for executions have invariably had a tendency to aggravate crime. This fact, beside its being opposed to the aprix of Christianity, should be sufficient to prove the necessity of abolishing the system.

Subscriptions were then taken up, after which a letter and from Plants Gonway. In which he arrived ter was read from PARKE Godwin, in which he stated his inability to attend. After a few farther remarks from Mr. Tirus, a vote of thanks was tendered to the peakers, the meeting adjourned.

Of course you have board of the discovery of the California Gold Mines. Gold was first discovered in in June last, about 50 miles above Sutter's Fort, now called Not Milestia. The discovery was made in this wise. Two small children who were picking up pebbles at the bottom of the tail race to a saw mill there in propress of construction, when a dispute arose about a proper division of their collection. The question was referred to their father, who on examination found one golden pebble among the lot. The news spread like wildfire, and all classes of our inhabitants rushed in hot baste with pick and spade and pan to the Piacra. The merchant, the physician, the shortif, the slicable.

Reaction at Rome.

After the refusal of the Pope to receive the deputation is tikets, the Deputits had no other course upon to them but that of returning to announce the result of them mission. The effect of this intelligence upon the people of Rome had seen extreordinary. The general impression, also adopted by the public press, now is, that the Pope, after having been invested into the improved in the popular of the provinces, and that his free will is entirely under the control of the retrograte party, hescaled by the Ring of Naples. The moment it was known that the deputation had been stopped at Potenlia, the popular circle assembled with the delegates of the civic guard and of the provinces, and declared that both Chambers, united in one, should elect among them three or five citizens to form a Provisional Government, and proclaim a Constituent Assembly.

Excess in '81 over '17.

The population of Brooklyn is now about 100,000.
Taking it at 20,000, and the ratio of deaths to population is as I to 43, less a fraction. This proportion of deaths to population will compare favorably with the bills of mortality in any city in the United States. In the city nearest to us, New York, the ratio of deaths for the cerrosponding year is I to 20 of the inhabitants. During the past year no epidemic or unusual disease has prevailed in our city, though, in common with other cities and the country generally, dysentery has been more provalent, and attended with greater mortality, than in former years. Reports that epidemic cholers has existed in our neighborhood are now generally admitted to be without foundation. Whatever disease may have prevailed in the Hospital at Quarantine, Staten island, it is pelpably evident that it has been of no epidemic character. It will be observed in the above report, that in the months of July, August and September, the mortality among children was in excess of that of adults about 250. In each of the other nine months, the number of adults exceeded that of children. In the year 1847 the deaths in the months of July, August and September, among children, was in excess of adults and the common of adults about 250. In each of the other nine months in the months of July and the search of the common of adults about 250.
